

The Manchester Journal.

25 BOSTON, LEXINGTON & NEWTON.

THURSDAY, MARCH 8, 1873.

The President and Vice President elect were inaugurated with the usual ceremony at Washington on Tuesday. There was a large attendance from all parts of the Union.

The war with the Modoc Indians has ceased, the Indians having surrendered and expressed a willingness to go on to a reservation prepared for them.

The Senate Mobilizer Committee reported in favor of expelling Senator Paden, but, owing to the nearness of the close of the session the report was not adopted.

The Senate Committee to investigate the charge of bribery in case of Senator Pomeroy made a majority report that the charges were not proved, the majority maintaining that they were proved.

THE LAST OF THE CREDIT MOBILIERS.

The debate in the House on the resolutions of the Poland Committee was very exciting and lasted two whole days, calling out the best talent of the House. The report was strongly defended by Poland, Banks, Murick and others and opposed by Butler and many others. At the close of the debate a motion was made to lay the whole report on the table which was defeated by a vote of 164 to 59.

A motion was then made to adopt a substitute for the resolutions of the Poland Committee, severely censuring expelling Ames and Brooks instead of them. The substitute was adopted by a vote of 115 to 110. Afterwards a resolution was introduced to censure Mr. Kelley of Peru, for holding Credit Mobilier stock, but was tabled by a vote of 119 to 75, and also a resolution to censure Mr. Hooper was tabled by the same vote. A vote was then passed to discharge the committee, which ended the whole business.

The resolution for censuring Ames and Brooks shows that the House considered them guilty of the charges against them, and if they are guilty, of which there can be no doubt, the sentiment of the country at large would favor their expulsion, and if there had been only those two mixed up in the matter they would have been expelled. The result is just what Oakes Ames anticipated when he first went into the Credit Mobilier, that the big swindle on the Government must sooner or later be exposed and his aim was to get Congressmen enough interested with him, so that when the exposure did come they would shield him from punishment, and he has accomplished his little game, but Congress has been disgraced and what the result will be is hard to determine, but the end is not yet.

THE INTERNATIONAL EXPOSITION.

DEPARTMENT OF STATE, 1
Washington, 18th Feb., 1873. 3
To His Excellency the Governor of the State of Vermont:

Sir.—I have the honor to inform you that, by a Joint Resolution of Congress approved 14th instant, provision has been made to enable the people of the United States to participate in the advantages of the International Exposition of the products of Agriculture, Manufactures, and the Fine Arts to be held at Vienna, Austria, commencing 1st May, 1873, and terminating 31st October of the same year.

I have, therefore, to request, in conformity with that resolution, a copy of the second section of which is inclosed herewith that you will invite the patriotic people of your State to assist in the proper representation of the handiwork of our artisans and the prolific sources of material wealth with which our land is blessed; and to take such further measures as may be necessary to diffuse a knowledge of the proposed exhibition, and to secure to your State the advantages which it promises.

I have the honor to be
Your Excellency's,
Most obedient servant,

HAMILTON FISH.

(Signed) HAMILTON FISH, Governor, 1873.

Sec. 2. That the Governors of the several States be, and they are hereby, requested to invite the patriotic people of their respective States to assist in the proper representation of the handiwork of our artisans and the prolific sources of material wealth with which our land is blessed; and to take such further measures as may be necessary to diffuse a knowledge of the proposed exhibition, and to secure to their respective States the advantages which it promises.

STATE OF VERMONT,
EXECUTIVE CHAMBER,
Woodstock, Feb. 22, 1873.

In compliance with the desire expressed in the foregoing communication of His Excellency, Hamilton Fish, and for the purpose of promoting the object contemplated by the Joint Resolution of Congress, the second section of which is copied above, I do hereby earnestly invite and exhort the good people of this State to use their influence and patriotic endeavors in every honorable way to further the great and commendable objects above referred to.

For the purpose of diffusing general information thereof the publishers of newspapers throughout the State are requested to insert the above in their respective papers as many times as they shall see fit.

JULIA COVENEY,
Governor of Vermont.

INAUGURATION ADDRESS.

Following: Under Providence I have been called a second time to act as Executive over this great nation. It has been my endeavor in the past to maintain all the laws and, so far as lay in my power, to act for the best interests of the whole people. My best efforts will be given in the same direction in the future, aided, I trust, by my son's experience in the office. When my first term of office of Chief Executive began, the country had not recovered from the effects of a great internal revolution, and three of the former States had not been restored to their federal relations. It seemed to me wise that no new questions should be raised so long as that condition of affairs existed. Therefore, the past four years, so far as I could control events, have been consumed in the effort to restore harmony, public credit and all the arts of peace and progress. It is my firm conviction that the civilized world is tending towards republicanism or government by the people through their chosen representatives, and that our own great republic is destined to be the guiding star to all others. Under our republic we support an army less than that of any European power of any standing, and a navy less than that of either of at least five of them. There could be no extension of territory on this continent which would call for an increase of this force, but rather might such an extension enable us to diminish it. The theory of government changes with general progress. Now that the telegraph is made available for communicating thought with rapid transit by steam, all parts of the continent are made contiguous for all purposes of government, and communication between the extreme limits of the country made easier than it was throughout the old thirteen States at the beginning of our national existence. The effect of the late civil strife has been to free the slave and make him a citizen yet he is not possessed of the civil rights which citizenship should carry with it. This is wrong and should be corrected. To this correction I stand committed, so far as executive influence can avail. Social equality is not a subject to be legislated upon, nor shall I ask that anything be done to advance the social status of the colored man except to give him a fair chance to develop what there is good in him; give him access to schools, and when he travels let him feel assured that his conduct will regulate the treatment and fare he will receive. The States lately at war with the general government are now happily rehabilited and no executive control is exercised in any of them that would not be exercised in any other State under like circumstances. In the first year of the past administration the position came up for the admission of Santo Domingo as a territory of the Union. It was not a question of my seeking, but was a proposition of the people of Santo Domingo and which I gratefully accept as my vindication.

U. S. GRANT.
CORRESPONDENCE.
MANCHESTER, March 1, 1873.
Mr. Editor:
In trading with the new merchant, J. H. Bonestell of Factory Point a few days ago, he actually gave up the half cut, a trick I never had a merchant play on me before. F. H. Orvis of the Equinox House has done that thing several times, and the man at the Drug Store has attempted it but never succeeded. What does it mean. Are matters going to continue on thus, if so, what will the farmers come to.

Fair Play.
As far as our observation goes our merchants, generally, are no sharper than merchants in other places, and are not far behind the farmers in making a good trade.—Editor Manchester Journal:
